The Story

Education is one of the strongest forces shaping a sustainable future. But sometimes words aren't enough - visual messages can make ideas unforgettable.

Your mission: create or capture one meaningful visual message that symbolises education for the Sustainable Development Goals (edu4sdgs).

Let your message inspire others to learn, act, and shape a sustainable future.

Mission Tasks

Step 1: Develop Your Idea (5 minutes)

Discuss what education for the SDGs means to your team and how you could show this idea visually.

Consider materials, surroundings, symbols, or natural shapes representing learning, growth, awareness, or global goals.

Step 2: Create or Discover the Visual Message (15 minutes)

Work creatively as a team to design your edu4sdgs message.

You may arrange objects, use natural materials safely, photograph meaningful scenes, or combine created and found elements.

Make sure your creation or discovery is safe, respectful of public space and nature, and easy to capture in a photograph.

Step 3: Capture Your Photo (2 minutes)

Take a clear photo from the best angle to show your visual message.

The image should communicate the idea without needing a long explanation.

Step 4: Add a Caption & Share Your Message (3 minutes)

Write one short sentence that reinforces your visual message.

Share your photo and caption on social media to inspire others. Suggested hashtags: #edu4sdgs #SDGAwareness #AgentsOfChange.

Why Your Mission Matters

Education is the foundation of sustainable development. By creating or discovering a visual message, you help show how learning, creativity, and global awareness can drive meaningful change.

Your contribution becomes part of the wider edu4sdgs movement.
